New Nutrition Class

Course Description -
Students explore database and technology-related innovations using physiometric data and knowledge. Instruction in health-related data acquisition, data and knowledge visualization techniques and application of descriptive and multivariate statistical methods to graphically symbolize abstract concepts and construct a narrative for unique health education interventions and solutions. Students integrate knowledge of health, nutrition, physical activity, anatomy, physiology, story-telling and illustration techniques.

Matthew Lange
mclange@ucdavis.edu
Subj: Health Monitor Class

New Nutrition Class

Matthew Lange
mclange@ucdavis.edu
Subj: Health Monitor Class

New Nutrition Class

Matthew Lange
mclange@ucdavis.edu
Subj: Health Monitor Class

New Nutrition Class

Course Description -
Students explore database and technology-related innovations using physiometric data and knowledge. Instruction in health-related data acquisition, data and knowledge visualization techniques and application of descriptive and multivariate statistical methods to graphically symbolize abstract concepts and construct a narrative for unique health education interventions and solutions. Students integrate knowledge of health, nutrition, physical activity, anatomy, physiology, story-telling and illustration techniques.

Matthew Lange
mclange@ucdavis.edu
Subj: Health Monitor Class

New Nutrition Class

Matthew Lange
mclange@ucdavis.edu
Subj: Health Monitor Class